

I'm sorry to say it's almost time to move inside for the cold weather; but before you do, there are a few things you can do outdoors in the garden.

Most of your herbaceous perennials have died back already so this is the perfect time to plant spring flowering bulbs and icicle pansies. And they're all on sale while they last.

Dormant oil spray is used to smother over wintering pests that make their homes in the cracks and crevices of shrubs and trees, especially fruit trees. Applications should be made in late October- early November after the plants have lost their leaves, but before freezing temperatures. And again in late winter- early spring. Before the buds begin to swell.

We have the sprayers too.

Rose Hut

Protect your Roses this winter. Simply place over your rose after pruning and the first frost $7.49
